The School of Management at Universidad de los Andes (Bogotá, Colombia) seeks applications to fill two full-time positions at the Assistant Professor level in the field of Supply Chain Management, with experience or interest in areas such as Strategic Sourcing, Digital Transformation, Sustainable SCM, Negotiation, Maritime Logistics, or Distribution & Transportation. The School provides conference and research support, as well as support to develop teaching skills.

Candidates must have earned a PhD degree (or be near completion) in the field stated above. They are expected to show a clear commitment to research and actively contribute to the design, delivery and assessment of courses at the undergraduate and graduate level. While the focus of the position will be on research and teaching, candidates are also expected to demonstrate an interest in Executive Education and consultancy activities.

Preference will be given to candidates with a record of publications in high-quality peer-reviewed journals and the desire to shape the development of a successful and fast-growing School of Management.

Candidates interested in the Assistant Professor Position should submit the following documents:

1. A motivation letter.
2. A curriculum vitae, including contact information for three academic references. Referees will not be contacted until the final candidates have been shortlisted.
3. A teaching statement, including course evaluations (if available).
4. A research statement.
5. Copies of two recent papers.

Applications for both positions shall be submitted until September 30, 2019. Shortlisted candidates will be invited for a campus visit in Bogotá in November, 2019. The appointments begin in January 2020.
