Assistant Professor in Finance

DCU Business School

Permanent contract

DCU Business School

DCU Business School is a dynamic school whose history is marked by steep upward development. From the outset, our guiding voices were those of industry and students and, as a result, we are today distinctive for our deep and responsive industry engagement and our close concern with the success of our students. From those beginnings in the 1980s, and particularly over the last ten years, DCU Business School has developed an excellent research profile characterised by its industry relevance and a strong international reach. Additionally, our programmes have relevant professional accreditations. DCU Business School is an engaged, innovative internationally-focused school which prides itself on its excellent reputation for impacting students, the academic community, industry and wider society.

Role Profile

The successful individual will be a member of the Financial and Operational Performance Group in DCU Business School. They will conduct high quality research and teaching in Finance and will also participate in the School's external engagement activities. Further, the successful individual is expected to contribute to programme management, research supervision and the service activities of the School and University.

Qualifications and Experience

- Applicants must have a PhD (or be close to submitting a PhD for examination) in any area of Finance. We are particularly looking for applicants capable of researching and teaching in the cross-cutting areas of financial technology, corporate finance and sustainable finance. Relevant industry experience is appreciated.
- We are seeking candidates who have a well-defined research plan and have the capability to publish in high impact international journals. Applicants should have (or be able to develop) international networks and collaborations. Applicants should also demonstrate excellent interpersonal and communication skills consistent with the highest quality of teaching and learning, together with evidence of successful teamwork and a collegial approach.
- The successful applicant will have the opportunity to play an important role in the further development of the School's national and international reputation, and to make a significant contribution to the research activity and industry engagement of the School and to the design, delivery and management of programmes at undergraduate, postgraduate and executive levels.
